PROOF AND UNCIRCULATED SILVER EISENHOWER DOLLAR COINS

Mrs. Mary Brooks, Director of the Mint, in Bureau of the Mint Release of February 24, 1971 announces that order blanks for the Proof and Uncirculated Silver Eisenhower Dollar Coins will be made available on June 18, 1971. The Mint, in order to insure wide distribution of ordering information, has made arrangements to supply the order forms and order procedures to commercial banks in the nation, as well as to Post Offices and Congressional offices where they will be readily obtainable by the public.

As previously announced, the Mint plans to produce 150 million of the silver content Eisenhower coins. (The cupro-nickel dollars for general circulation through commercial banks will not be available until late fall.)

The Mint, on July 1, 1971 (not before) will start accepting orders at the following premium prices for the special Eisenhower dollar coins to be made of a 40 percent silver alloy:

$10.00 per coin for the Proof, and
$ 3.00 per coin for the Uncirculated.

Orders will be limited to five Proof and five Uncirculated coins. Separate orders must be submitted for each type.

Mrs. Brooks explained also in above mentioned release: "Because the Mint has been deluged with inquiries concerning the Eisenhower dollar coin, I felt it imperative to announce the date when order forms for the coins will be available and when the Mint will begin accepting orders."

And, Mrs. Brooks after reiterating that no orders for the coins will be accepted before July 1, 1971, said: "Information as to where to order the coins will appear on the order forms and will be prominently reported in the news media. Order blanks will be in abundant supply and easily available because I want every person in the country who wants these special coins to be able to obtain them."

The difference between the Proof and Uncirculated coins and the method of manufacture of each is explained on the opposite page.

PROOF COINS. These are pieces made from carefully selected blanks that have been highly polished before being fed to the presses. The dies, made solely for this purpose, are also highly polished, and are buffed during use. In order to minimize scratches and abrasions the coins are hand-fed to a slow-moving press. The slower action assures sharper, more even impressions and makes the design much more distinct. Each coin is struck twice. The finished coins have an almost mirror surface.

For the most part, the finish on modern-day proofs is mirror-like. After heat treating, each coinage die has a frosted appearance and texture throughout its entire surface. The field, or background, is then highly polished to a mirror finish. The portrait, and all other design elements in relief, are still frosted. Once in production, the action of successive coining tends to polish the portrait; the two-toned effect gradually disappears.

Proof coin manufacture requires the same careful, painstaking finishing operations as do pieces of expensive jewelry. Each coin is reviewed to detect any defects which may have occurred in the manufacturing operations. All condemned or otherwise imperfect coins are melted.

UNCIRCULATED COINS. These are pieces minted on high-speed presses, moved along conveyors, and run through counting machines. No attempt is made to impart a special finish. Each coin is struck only once. The Treasury cannot guarantee that these coins will be entirely free from blemishes.

COIN SETS SOLD BY THE UNITED STATES MINT

PROOF COIN SETS currently contain five coins: a half dollar, quarter dollar, dime, nickel and cent of regular design, minted at the U. S. Assay Office, San Francisco, California. They therefore bear the "S" mint mark. These coins are produced from carefully selected blanks which have been highly polished before being fed into the presses. Each coin is struck twice, and has a mirror-like finish. The Proof Sets are then packaged in plastic display containers. The new cupro-nickel clad half dollar, recently authorized by the Congress, is included in the 1971 Proof Coin Sets. The new Eisenhower dollar coin, however, will not be in these sets.

Each of the coins in a Proof Set bears the date of issue. Proof Sets dated between 1950 and 1964 were made at the Philadelphia Mint and have no mint mark. Production of Proof Coin Sets was suspended from 1965 through 1967, and resumed in 1968.

During the suspension of Proof Coin operations -- 1965 through 1967 -- Special Mint Sets (no longer manufactured) were produced at the San Francisco Assay Office.

Proof Sets of past years are no longer available from the Mint.

UNCIRCULATED COIN SETS contain selected uncirculated coins manufactured for general circulation purposes. Each set contains coins made in the current year at each Mint. Conditions of sale, such as price and restrictions per order are announced prior to the annual acceptance period. When the volume of orders received approaches maximum productive capacity, cutoff dates are announced and all excess orders received thereafter are returned to the senders.

Uncirculated Coin Sets for the Year 1971 consist of two packages (a total of eleven coins), one containing a 50¢, 25¢, 10¢, 5¢, and 1¢ piece from the Denver Mint bearing the "D" Mint mark, and a second package containing a 50¢, 25¢, 10¢, 5¢, and 1¢ piece from the Philadelphia Mint without a Mint mark in the tradition of Philadelphia manufactured coins, plus a 1¢ piece from the U. S. Assay Office in San Francisco bearing the "S" Mint mark. (The first Kennedy half dollar to be minted for circulation since December, 1969, produced with the new alloy composed of cupro-nickel clad on copper appears in these sets, in accordance with the provisions of the 1970 coinage law.

Each of the 1968, 1969 and 1970 Uncirculated Sets contained five coins (one cent through half dollar) from the Denver Mint bearing "D" mint marks; a one cent and a five cent piece from the San Francisco Assay Office, bearing "S" mint marks; and a cent, dime and quarter dollar from the Philadelphia Mint with no mint marks.

HOW TO ORDER YOUR COIN SETS

PROOF COIN SETS dated 1971 can no longer be ordered. Mail orders were accepted by the Officer in Charge, Numismatic Service, U. S. Assay Office, 50 Fell Street, San Francisco, California 94102 from November 1 through December 31, 1970. A remittance of $5.00 for each set ordered (which charge included handling and first class registered mail shipping) had to accompany each order; orders were limited to not more than five sets. Production and mailing of acceptable orders for 1971 Proof Coin Sets began early in January 1971 and will continue during the entire calendar year.

Normally, orders for Proof Sets are accepted in advance commencing November first of each year and filled as soon as possible after January first of the following year. Price and restrictions per order are announced prior to the annual acceptance period by the Director of the Mint.

UNCIRCULATED COIN SETS dated 1971 can no longer be ordered. Mail orders were accepted by the Officer in Charge, Numismatic Service, U. S. Assay Office, 50 Fell Street, San Francisco, California 94102 from March 1, 1971 through April 15, 1971 at $3.50 each, which charge included handling and first class registered mail - (maximum sets per order - five). Consequently, all orders for the 1971 Uncirculated Coin Sets received after the April 15, 1971 cutoff date necessarily must be returned to the senders.

Uncirculated Coin Sets of former years are unavailable from the Mint.

COIN SET PRODUCTION POLICY

The Mint will continue to do all it can to increase its services to the numismatic hobby, and will make every effort to distribute its production of Proof and Uncirculated Coin Sets on a fair and equitable basis after providing adequate coinage for the continually growing economy, according to the Director of the Mint.

Once you have ordered Proof and/or Uncirculated Coin Sets, you will automatically receive an order card for coin sets issued in the following year. If you fail to reorder within two years, your name will be removed from the later mailings until you reorder. Receipt of an order card does not guarantee acceptance of your order when submitted. Please note that neither a prepunched card nor a formal application is necessary for placing an order -- a written request over your signature, accompanied by a covering remittance in proper amount (money order, cashier's check or personal check) will serve the same purpose.

Proof and Uncirculated Coins are sold by the Mint only in set form. Individual pieces, rolls and bags of coin cannot be ordered.

Inquiries concerning coin sets should be addressed to the San Francisco Assay Office.
